For almost 10 years now, Max Price has been producing the infamous Max's Cabaret showcasing a variety of new-comers and veterans on local stages and venues including bar tops and bar stools. Providing local talent an opportunity to perform new numbers while fostering up and coming talent, Max says "it's great working with all these people, I find it very inspiring, the cabarets arouse a deep dark desire in our performers to create unique pieces that really let them shine."

The Market Hall show will feature a variety of performances including fresh talent from Trent U, local professional performers, musicians from our rich local scene and various creative personalities. Max's choreography makes the most of his spectacular cabaret dancers-with show-stopping numbers inspired by the likes of Bob Fosse, the Ziegfeld follies, old Hollywood musicals and of the famous Moulin Rouge. "My chorus girls are out there having a great time, they give it their all and then push it just that much further. The audience really picks up on the spirit, and boy, the audience gives it right back to them. It's a beautiful relationship!" laughs Max.

The Cabaret Band, a talented trio including Janel Waddams on grand piano, John Mather on double bass and Andrew Neddow on the skins, will be providing back up for the acts with torch songs inspired by Bette Midler to Marlene Dietrich, pop opera and bawdy classics.

Vaudevillian style numbers include a Julia Childe send up complete w/ a cake to be auctioned off, old school drag numbers, tasteful burlesque, a classic balloon popping dance and a couple of mischievous puppets. "Our cabarets do lean towards the naughty and can get a little risqué, but it's all in good fun and everyone leaves happy."

Max's Cabaret a Market Hall fundraiser, one night only! Showcasing original acts, songs, dances and auctions.

NEW

Max's Cabaret, a Market Hall fundraiser update on performers

Special new additions for Friday's big show includes Rob Phillips-one of the hottest jazz players in town partnered with comedian Dan Fewings to share songs and schtick from their new act "Three martinis, then I'll sing". Market Hall's very own Director of Development, Karen August will make a return to the stage with her song while peeling off a classic cabaret/burlesque number to excite and delight the audience. Peterborough New Dance's G.M. Laurel Paluck will be pulling out her magic hands to assist in hosting the evening while Bill Kimball G.M. of Market Hall and Artistic Producer of Peterborough New Dance will be providing multiple duties throughout the event.
